G.O.P. WINS CONTROL OF HOUSE, SENATE

BRICKER, HERBERT WIN IN LANDSLIDE

Cong. Smith Reelected; County Goes Republican

COUNTY VOTERS BACK G.O.P. IN ALL CONTESTS

Republicans Lead by Wide Margins; Vote Sets High Mark.

Marion county voters gave sweeping majorities to all Republican state, district and county candidates in yesterday's election.

The winners rolled up commanding leads in all contests in brisk balloting that brought 16,230 county voters to the polls, setting a new high mark for a non-presidential election. The total went considerably ahead of the previous corresponding election mark—13,377 in 1942.

High man in the election for a contested office was Kenneth A. Robinson of Marion, Republican, elected Marion county representative to the general assembly. He polled 10,639 votes to defeat his Democratic opponent, Otis R. McCloskey, also of Marion, by 5,615 votes for a more-than two to one advantage.

He also won by the largest majority of any candidate on the state, district or county tickets. He will succeed Earl E. Thomas, Republican, veteran Marion county legislator, whom he defeated for the nomination in the May primary.

Highest vote polled in the county, 12,296, went to Paul D. Smith for reelection as common pleas judge. It was a complimentary vote, however, since he was unopposed.

Herbert Carries County

Although Frank J. Lausche, Democratic candidate for reelection as governor, ran well ahead of his ticket in the county, he trailed Republican Thomas J. Herbert by 2,001 in the local vote. Other state Democratic candidates ran from 3,200 to 4,100 behind their Republican foes here.

John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for U. S. senator and a perennial favorite in Marion county, was second high man on the GOP ticket. With a total vote just under 10,000 he held a lead of 4,168 over Democratic incumbent James W. Huffman.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion won in the county by a vote of 2,906 over John T. Siemon. Hardin county aspirant to the Eighth district seat in congress.

Write-In Contest

An unusual contest to draw considerable attention from the voters was the three-way write in contests for county clerk of courts. The balloting results were remarkable in that 4,629 voters wrote in the name of the winning candidate, Calvin Oborn, Republican, now holding the office by appointment to fill a vacancy. In all 6,386 voters wrote in the names of their favorites, giving in addition to the Oborn vote, 1,294 for John Sekinger, Democrat, and 463 for William L. Ogan, Republican.

Marion county voters favored Paul M. Herbert, Republican and native of Wyandot county, with a 3,466 majority over George D. Nye, Democratic incumbent, in the contest for lieutenant governor.

Edward J. Hummel, Republican secretary of state, won in the county by 3,382 over Democrat Charles F. Sweeney.

Don Ebright, Republican treasurer of state, held a lead of 4,239 over his Democratic rival, James T. Welsh. The county gave Ebright the largest majority of any candidate for state office.

Hugh S. Jenkins, Republican attorney general, was given a majority of 4,004 over Timothy S. Hogan, Democrat.

Kingsley A. Taft, Republican, held an advantage of 3,379 votes over Democrat Henry P. Weber.

FREDERICK C. SMITH
Majority in reelection to fifth term in congress sets new high mark.

SMITH WINS BY LARGE MARGIN

Congressman Returned for 5th Term by Defeating Siemon 41,609 to 22,983.

Dr. Frederick C. Smith, Republican of Marion, was reelected to a fifth term in congress from the eighth district yesterday by the largest majority given him in any of his five campaigns.

He defeated John T. Siemon, Democrat of near Kenton, by 18,626 votes, winning in all five counties of the eighth congressional district.

Smith's total vote was 41,609, compared to 22,983 for his opponent. Smith polled the largest vote in Hancock county, receiving 10,146 to Siemon's 4,270. In Marion county Smith received 9,353 to Siemon's 6,446.

Counties in the Eight congressional district are Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Wyandot, Hardin and Hancock. Ballotin the congressional race was as follows: Marion county, Siemon 6,446, Smith 9,353; Morrow, Siemon 1,513; Smith 3,811; Crawford, Siemon 4,412, Smith 8,046; Wyandot, Siemon 2,535, Smith 4,224; Hardin, Siemon 3,807, Smith 6,029; Hancock, Siemon 4,270; Smith 10,146.

A record of Dr. Smith's precious congressional contests follows:

He was elected in 1938 by defeating Brooks Fletcher, also of Marion; by 6,709 votes. He went to congress in 1939 after serving one year of his second term as mayor of Marion.

In 1940 Smith defeated Kenneth Petri of Galion, winning by as majority of 4,542 and in 1942 he again beat Fletcher by 11,055. Two years ago he was elected over W. Warren Roof of Kenton by a 16,758 majority.

CAPTURE ALL OHIO OFFICES, 2 HOUSE SEATS

Bricker Wins by 316,993; Herbert by 38,749; Bender by 401,811.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6 — A landslide loosed by Republicans and their "Had Enough?" campaign, swept their candidates into the U. S. senate and all major Ohio offices at stake in Tuesday's election.

The tide also shaved the Democrats' six congressmen to at least four in the 23-member Ohio congressional delegation.

John W. Bricker, three times governor, will go to the senate. He rode high and wide over Senator James W. Huffman, Democrat appointed to the post last year.

Former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert will become governor succeeding Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, who bid unsuccessfully for a second term.

Republican George H. Bender of Cleveland will return for his fifth consecutive term as congressman-at-large after a smashing defeat of State Senator William M. Boyd, Democrat.

Republicans also will assume next January the offices of lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, attorney general and one supreme court judgeship.

The lone Democrat surviving the deluge was Charles B. Zimmerman, who was reelected to the supreme court over Clinton De-Witt Boyd, Middletown Republican.

The office of state auditor, now occupied by Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson, was not at stake.

Bricker Posts Margin

Bricker, the 1944 Republican candidate for vice president, piled up a margin of 304,385 votes over the PAC-endorsed Huffman in the tabulation of 7,913 of the state's 9,352 polling places.

The count was: Bricker 1,060,119, Huffman 755,734.

Bricker's triumph and his growing plurality added prestige for his reported ambitions to be Republican Presidential nominee two years hence.

Governor Lausche, seeking a second two-year term, trailed Republican Herbert by 44,744 votes in the tabulation of 9,174 polling places. The totals were:

Herbert 1,146,904; Lausche 1,102,160.

NEXT CONGRESS DIVIDED FROM WHITE HOUSE

Utah Victory Gives Republicans First Legislature Since 1931.

By The Associated Press

Republicans won control of both house and senate of the 80th congress today in a triumphant landslide that overturned the Democrats for the first time in 16 years.

Associated Press returns on the 96 senate contests at 2:02 p. m. today showed:

Democrats elected 10; holdovers 32; total 42. Republicans elected 23; holdovers 28; total 51. Contests undecided 3. Needed for majority 49.

In the house contests the Republicans elected 223. Democrats elected 175. American Labor elected 1. Needed for majority 218.

The result meant a congress meeting in January politically divided from the White House. Tradition pointed a favorable finger, too, toward GOP capture of the White House two years hence.

President Truman, who arrived by special train from voting in Missouri, declined comment to reporters who sought his views on the election results.

The GOP went over the top for house control in tabulations of late returns at 11:50 a. m. A few minutes later Arthur B. Watkins, Republican candidate, won a victory in Utah which gave his party undisputed possession of the senate.

Defeats Truman Supporter

Watkins defeated Senator Abe Murdock (D), who usually has been listed as a supporter of the policies of President Truman's administration.

In a thundering landslide that shook the Democratic party to its foundations from coast to coast, the Republicans won smashing victories in such big states as New York, where they reelected Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and sent Irving M. Ives to the senate to replace Senator James Mead. Mead lost to Dewey in the governor race.

The Republicans also captured three governorships previously held by the Democrats, but lost one, in Colorado, to their opponents. It was the first of national proportion victory scored by the GOP since it lost control of congress in the early 30s.

The prospective upset in congressional control would mean a change in congressional officials, from speaker to lowliest clerk.

Republican Leader Joseph Martin (Mass) is expected to become speaker, replacing Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) with a Republican house victory.

Vandenberg Likely Leader

In the senate, Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) probably would be chosen as presiding officer to succeed Senator Kenneth D. McKellar (D-Tenn) if the Republicans win one more seat. Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was considered the most likely choice to succeed Senator Alben Barkley (D-Ky) as majority leader.

Vandenberg, who has been serving as an adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes, probably would replace Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), another Byrnes adviser, as chairman of the senate committee considering U. S. ratification of all treaties.

Teachers Assured Pay Increase As School Levy Passes Easily

Marion school teachers today were assured of increases in salaries with passage yesterday of the two-mill tax levy, expected to yield approximately $82,000 a year for a period of four years.

The levy carried by a majority of 4,707 votes. Requiring only a simple majority for passage, but receiving a majority in all the 30 city precincts and in Marion township north and Marion township south, it passed with a 71 per cent vote.

Total vote on the levy was 7,789 for to 3,082 against. Vote for it was particularly heavy in Precinct B, Sixth Ward, where it received 403 in its favor to 38 against it. An exceptionally large vote in favor of the levy also was cast in Precinct C, Fifth Ward, where the count was 333 for to 78 against.

Vigorous Campaign

The school levy victory climaxed a successful and vigorous campaign on the part of school officials and the Marion Civic Planning association during the last several weeks. Keynote of the campaign was that teachers in Marion schools receive less pay than in any other city in its population group in the state.

Approximately 80 per cent of the funds obtained from the levy will be used for the primary purpose of increasing teachers' salaries. The remainder will be spent for increased operating expenses, including higher cost of school supplies, textbooks and miscellaneous items.

In Next Taxes

The levy will start with the collection of real estate taxes for the 1946 calendar year. It will bring about a revised salary schedule for Marion teachers, providing for a single salary schedule for both grade and high school teachers with rates of pay depending on experience and educational training.

The tax rate of the levy is not to exceed two mills for each dollar valuation, which amounts to 20 cents for each $100 valuation for and during the years of 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949.

LONDON CALLS VOTE LANDSLIDE TO RIGHT

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 6—The London press announced the results of the United States elections today with screaming headlines proclaiming a "U. S. Landslide to the Right."

The French press interpreted the elections results principally as a rebuke to President Truman, with headlines reading: "Truman's Adversaries Triumph," "Truman Disavowed by the Americans," and "Reversal of the Majority in the United States."

In London, the Star's banner head read: "Truman Is Voted 'Out'," while the Conservative Evening Standard, describing "a resounding call for a businessman's government," headlined: "Swing to the Right in U. S."

"If Mr. Harry Truman were prime minister of the United States instead of President," observed the Standard, "he would be out of office today. In a world turning more and more to the left, America has turned sharply and dramatically to the right.

"It is, apparently, as clean a sweep as Britain's 15 months ago, though the broom has swept in exactly the opposite direction."

Commenting on the reelection of Governor Thomas E. Dewey in New York, the Standard said "his place in the front rank of Republican contenders for Presidential nomination two years hence is now unassailable."

Lausche Sends Herbert Congratulatory Note

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today conceded the election of his Republican opponent for governor, Thomas J. Herbert, in a congratulatory message addressed to the Cleveland businessman at Cleveland. The message read:

ONE COUNTY ISSUE LOSES

All Others, Including Prospect Waterworks, Sewer Proposal Win.

Marion county voters approved all special bond issues except one. The Marion township school bond issue was defeated by a vote of 35 for and 41 against. A 65 per cent favorable vote would have been necessary to pass the issue.

All other county school bond issues, of which there were five, passed. Marion county voting on Marseilles and Cardington school issues was also favorable.

Two Prospect referendums for construction of a $135,000 sewage system and a $145,000 waterworks plant were approved overwhelmingly. Vote on the sewage system was, for 459, against 28; waterworks total was, for 466, against 28.

The defeated Marion township proposal was for a bond issue of $63,791 for acquisition of land contiguous to the present Campbell school site, construction of a permanent school building in place of the present building, and other improvements to the site. It was to have been financed by a 3.31 mill levy for a maximum of ten years.

The LaRue school levy of 3.85 mills for three years to provide additional operating funds was passed by a 432 to 109 vote.

Swift End Of Wartime Curbs Biggest Issue Facing Congress

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The swift end of wartime controls over the nation's economy and legislative proposals intended to ease management-labor friction shaped up today as the biggest issues facing the next, almost certainly Republican-dominated congress.

Forecasting a return to control of both houses after 15 years, the G.O.P. leadership already has slated a series of policy shaping conferences in advance of Jan. 3, when the 80th congress convenes.

The Republicans hold no illusion, however, that it will be easy to place their program — when finally formulated—into effect. A Democrat still sits in the White House. Hence they either must persuade President Truman to accept that program, or try to crack his veto when and as they come.

The bulwark of Democratic votes from the fairly solid south will make the overriding of a Truman veto a major task. A two-thirds vote of each house is required.

Major Issues Faced

Problems of the greatest magnitude confront the new congress. International undertakings — [illegible] will deliver many a shove. In that setting then, the lawmakers must make decisions on such issues as

Tied in closely with this program is the administration's insistence on a permanent, compulsory military training program, certain to arouse heated debate.

3. Stepping up the housing program—a major sore spot particularly for veterans.

4. Reduction of taxes from high, war-time levels. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), senior Republican on the ways and means committee, has called for a 20 per cent reduction. General belief at the Capitol is that a more modest cut finally will emerge next year.

G.O.P. TO AID FARM POLICY

Election Gives Party Loud Voice in Agricultural Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The Republican congressional resurgence gives that party a loud voice in helping shape government agricultural programs at a time AAA farming is approaching its all-time records of production and market-ing theories.

With productive capacity expanded a third above pre-war levels, agriculture next year may grow more than it can market. Warehouses reminiscent of depression days would develop unless foreign demands hold up better than now expected.

In such case government would be confronted with the question of whether to revive the AAA crop control programs inaugurated by the New Deal in the 30's or adopt some other measures for preventing farm depressions which heretofore have followed surpluses.

Republicans — through the party's 1944 platform and through speeches made later by their armchair leaders — declare they will oppose vigorously any return to control measures and subsidies.

They have said they will sponsor methods designed to expand markets for agriculture's full productive capacity rather than programs curtailing production.

The Truman administration's farm chief Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, has said future programs should emphasize expanded markets, but he has not tossed crop control measures aside. He has, in fact, instituted a control program on potatoes next year in an effort to prevent a surplus.

One clue to Republican farm policies may be obtained from the man in line to be chairman of the house agriculture committee should the G O P. hold its apparent victory in that chamber—Rep Clifford Hope of Kansas.

Hope has said repeatedly he believes the nation has an inefficient agricultural marketing system. He thinks the spread between prices received by farmers and those paid by consumers is too wide and too much of the consumer's food dollar goes to inefficient transportation, processing and marketing systems.

The Kansan believes the agriculture department should concentrate on a research program designed to root out the inefficiencies and propose ways of eliminating them.

Galion Woman Hurt In Auto Accident

GALION, Nov. 6—Miss Florence Holmes, a well-known insurance agent in Galion for the Bachelder and Bashl agency, suffered an injured knee cap, possible rib fractures and cuts and bruises when she went to sleep at the wheel of her car yesterday afternoon while on her way to Mansfield and ran into another car which was turning into a side road. The accident occurred about 3:30 at the edge of Mansfield.

Her brother, Earl Holmes of Galion, who was also enroute to Mansfield with his son, Thomas, and sister, Miss Pearl Holmes, passed the scene. When Thomas said he thought one was the car of his Aunt Florence, the party turned back. They then took Miss Holmes to Galion City hospital where her condition is considered not serious. The front of her car was badly damaged. The name of the driver of the other car was not available.

Blind Judge Leads Fight To Save Others' Failing Sight

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—Blind Judge Ned H. Smith is leading a fight here to protect other people from the grim fate that overtook him 26 years ago.

The judge, who thinks it worth the effort and expense "if we can save just one man's sight," is the spirit behind the newly organized Detroit Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Sightless himself since 1920, Judge Smith says statistics show about two-thirds of blindness is preventable and he organized his society with the idea of doing something about it.

The society, financed by a grant from the Lions club, is the result of two years of study and planning by Judge Smith. It is patterned after similar organizations in other American cities.

The first month's operations brought an "astonishing" number of inquiries from persons seeking aid, Judge Smith said.

The judge, mild-mannered and gray at 46, sits on Detroit's common pleas bench, sometimes called the "common man's court." Born with only partial vision, he lost his sight when he was 19. His eyes were frozen in the winter of 1920.

Judge Smith disclaims being an "expert" on the subject of blindness.

"I'm a lawyer, not a doctor," he said.

He says, however, that the sight of two-thirds of the 200,000 to 250,000 blind persons in the United States could have been saved through proper care and treatment and a foreknowledge of symptoms.

That is what his society intends to do—instruct and advise. The society plans public information campaigns, cooperating with civic groups, labor unions, and business and manufacturing organizations.

"The result may show up in years to come," Judge Smith said. "My hope is that we will be able to save the sight of at least some persons. As far as that goes, if we could save just one man's sight, it would be worth it.".

Judge Smith, a native of Elkhart, Ind., was reared in Coldwater, Mich., and studied for his law degree at the University of Michigan. He has served 11 years on the common pleas bench. Before that he was an assistant prosecutor.

His Society for the Prevention of Blindness, operating on a $10,000 budget for its first year, is established in a downtown office building.

Its executive director is Miss Ernestine Davidson, graduate medical social worker from the University of Michigan who says organizations such as Judge Smith's society "already know enough to prevent a large proportion of blindness.

Boyle Takes Dim View of European 'Bargains'

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. — The tourist who comes to Europe looking for a bargain counter is in for some sad pocketbook surprises.

Money is still the open sesame in all the international shopping centers, but it is even more difficult than in the old days to convince the natives that every American doesn't carry his own mint with him.

Hal Boyle

The only sure way to come out ahead is to bring along a suitcase full of Confederate money and sell some wide-eyed foreigner who has taken a sabbatical leave from his common sense on the idea that it is the true money of the future.

For an ordinary twenty-buck bill good for 400 trips on a Manhattan subway, won't take you for much of a joyride abroad. They look pretty big when you pull the first ones out; soon you begin to wonder whether everybody else isn't mistaking them for a new issue postage stamp. And I don't mean an airmail stamp—they don't go that far.

$20 Will Buy Hitler's Picture.

About all a double sawbuck will buy you in Europe is a mild hangover, a good meal for two or a picture of Hitler. The frame comes extra.

There are two reasons for this shabby treatment of the dollar, which still looks better to many European peoples than their own wallpaper currency:

(1) Official exchange rates in most cases aren't realistic and

(2) Most countries still have more promises than goods to sell.

In France, for example, a buck is worth 119 francs officially. That is just the way the swivel chair diplomats in the Qual D'Orsay try to flatter the local voters. The black market operators around the Place de L'Opera know better the real value of the greenback. They'll break their elbows any hour shelling out 200 to 300 francs for one.

Money Business Booms.

Business is booming on this sable bourse. Travelers who bring over on the sly a sockful of Uncle Sam's legal certificates are thereby enabled to have the kind of time in Napoleon's Village-on-the-Seine that more honest visitors only dream about. Even then it comes high.

In all countries, of course, you are supposed to declare how much money you bring in and exchange it only at banks and other institutions which perpetuate the official money myth.

Hungary even put in the death penalty for citizens failing to turn in their American money to the government, which is shy of foreign exchange. Cynical Budapestians jest:

"If they catch you with five dollars, they hang you. If they catch you with ten dollars—you have to split it."

English Shy Away.

The English as a people don't play black market footsy with the American dollar. And what they've got to sell is already overseas. To the Swedes and Swiss—peace, it was wonderful—the dollar is just a currency in knee-pants.

So, what with the import duties you'll have to pay when you come back to the United States, you probably won't tote much home unless you are in the class that uses ermine for penwipers.

You can still buy Aunt Abigail a musical clock in Switzerland and return solvent. You can also corner her an antique silver snuff box in Merrie England—fine for her vitamin pills—at less than Danny Kaye's weekly salary.

Perfume and silk neckties are still worth the freight in France, whether you get your francs from a bank or the black market.

But as for the rest, well—

You never go far wrong on scenery and postcards. They are still the best buys abroad.

Analyst Says Foreign Policy Won't Change

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Although Europe was reported anxious because of the trends of American politics, yesterday's vote actually would seem to mean very little regarding U. S. foreign policy.

The world seldom expects British elections to have any major effect on the "traditional" empire policy, but it has been popular to speak of the United States as having "no foreign policy," and to expect her to veer with the beliefs of whatever party may be in power. But the U. S. has been developing, if slowly, a very definite foreign policy for a good many years now. There is every evidence that it is a policy of the people and therefore mandatory on either party.

One is that America will become disgusted with its efforts to set the world aright and again turn to isolationism. The cooperation of both parties in the conduct of foreign policy in the conforts to establish the United Nations is the best evidence that the American people have made up their minds on this subject and that the party leaders know it.

The second great fear is of a depression in America which would have world-wide repercussions. Here is where, to foreigners, the Republicans are suspect. They don't know but that there might be a tendency for the G.O.P., in the light of its tradition, to lean on higher tariffs and to recede from the present American policy of promoting freer trade. The only Republican answer to this, so far, lies in the votes which supported the United Nations, the world banking and foreign exchange agreements, and the importance congress placed on Britain's promises of revision of her own commonwealth trade barriers at the time the loan to her was approved.

As long as the American people seem even fairly well united on foreign policy, and they do seem to be now, other nations may ease their minds by remembering that political parties are hired to administer, not rule, in America.

COAL BATTLE NEARS CLIMAX

NLRB Ready To Resume Parley with Miners After Election Holiday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—John L. Lewis' wage struggle with the government moved nearer the showdown stage today as the national labor relations board made ready to reopen a second fight in the soft coal dispute.

Here is the twin-paneled picture:

1. Negotiations between Lewis aides and officials of the federal coal mines administration were scheduled to resume at 11 a. m. today after the election day recess. At issue is whether the government's contract with the United Mine Workers can be reopened by Lewis.

With Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug about to head back to Washington from his western inspection trip, the time for a face to face meeting between Lewis and the top boss of the federally-seized pits drew steadily nearer. Lewis thus far has held aloof from the preliminary skirmishing.

2. The NLRB called for final arguments tomorrow on the unionization of supervisors at four Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation mines in western Pennsylvania.

Vexing Difference

This issue poses one of the most vexing differences between Lewis and the soft coal operators. It is the primary reason why the government has been forced to retain possession of the mines it seized last May.

Hence tomorrow's hearing is one more step in the planned appeal of the entire issue to the United States supreme court.

At the root of the Jones and Laughlin case is Lewis' demand that his union be recognized as bargaining agent for mine foremen and supervisors, variously estimated to number between 28,000 and 50,000.

Under terms of the Krug-Lewis contract which ended the 59-day soft coal strike last spring, the government agreed to resolve the dispute on the basis of NLRB procedures for 136 supervisors at the four J and L mines.

Company Balks

This procedure called for J and L to recognize Lewis' union as bargaining agent, but the company balked at putting the NLRB finding into effect.

A trial examiner at Pittsburgh upheld the original NLRB ruling, and the case came back to the full board for a final determination. That step is necessary before either side can appeal to the courts.

J and L and most other operators contend the supervisors are part of the mine management and hence should not be unionized.

Lewis presumably has been awaiting Krug's return before disclosing his specific demands. He is expected, however, to ask for a shorter work week than the current 34-hour period with little or no loss in take-home pay.

The miners now get $1.18½ cents an hour for the first 35 hours and time and one-half for each additional hour.

A Turn To The Right

THE Republican party never has accepted heavier responsibility than a majority of voters gave it in Tuesday's election.

The party is the new rallying point for the political confidence of the American people. It has succeeded to the function which the New Deal coalition no longer could perform. It must carry out under an extreme handicap a popular mandate to reorganize the government.

If this had been a presidential election instead of a congressional election the White House would have changed hands Tuesday, as well as control of both houses of congress, but as it is, Republican majorities in congress must justify popular faith in their ability to do the job while the executive branch of the government is still in the hands of the opposition.

President Truman's executive responsibility calls for his immediate adjustment to a circumstance which might turn into a constitutional crisis. He now must disassociate himself from the discredited elements in the political coalition he inherited when he took office. He must recognize his obligation to work with the Republican majority in congress.

Republicans are sobered by their new situation as trustees of public confidence. They are not crowing. Their thoughtful leaders—men like Taft, Vandenburg, Dewey, Bricker, Representative Martin and the new spokesmen for the party who won election Tuesday—are deeply aware of the fact they must restore national confidence.

The American people are disturbed. What they did at the polls, in effect, was to cast a vote of no confidence in government as it was and to seek confidence in a new government they hope may crystalize within the two-party system. The Republicans now cease to be the loyal opposition and become the majority. Their job is to restore popular confidence.

In its first post-war election, the United States has veered toward a moderate position. It has rejected the ideas of statism which have preoccupied Europe. This is a momentous decision with momentous implications. Once more America has signified to a world which looks to it for leadership that the American people put their faith in free enterprise and maximum opportunity for the individual.

As was generally expected, John W. Bricker goes to the senate from Ohio with a great margin of votes over James W. Huffman, reflecting this state's confidence in his outstanding ability as a spokesman for sound American principles. Tom Herbert becomes Ohio's governor, replacing the popular and capable Frank J. Lausche. It will be up to him and the other Republican officials elected with him yesterday to prove that this change of state leadership will keep Ohio in the forefront of progressive government.

Mass-Production Inefficiency

EMPLOYMENT and payrolls in automobile factories have reached an all-time high, announces Automobile Facts, the industry's trade publication.

Mass-production efficiency has been turned into mass-production inefficiency by endless tie-ups of material needed to keep the automobile industry's famed assembly lines moving.

Compared with January 1941, the industry's dollar payments are up 76 percent and employment 25 percent. But as the public well knows, production of automobiles is spotty and irregular. Less than half as many passenger cars and trucks were produced in the first eight months of this year as were produced in the first eight months of 1941. Manufacturers are employing thousands of extra workers to expedite shipments of supplies and chase down hard-to-get materials. These are the reasons why automobile prices are high and threatening to go higher. They are the reasons why a nation which has learned to depend on automobiles is beginning to wonder whether it can continue to afford them.

Mass production is only superficially the secret of American industrial efficiency. The real secret is the efficiency of the countless enterprises that supply the materials and articles that mass production assembles. An assembly line is an effect, not a cause, of efficiency. Mass production is temporarily crippled because its workers — and beneficiaries — are preoccupied with things alien to industrial efficiency.

News Behind the News

UN Budget One of Strangest Proposals Yet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Events always become fuzzy around election time but the one with the longest loose ends was the United Nations budget proposal—a budget presumably having nothing to do with the election.

Out of a clear sky, the United Nations Budget Commission reported expenditure of a proposed $19,627,964 for 1946 and $23,790,608 for 1947 which may have been satisfactory if they needed the money, although Russia says not, and I do not know. However that may be, the same commission reported that the United States pay about 50% of the costs—49.89 to be quite exact, although I cannot ascertain how they arrive at the 49%, much less the 89/100ths of a per cent which seemed to be shaving matters closer than a Gallup poll cuts election figures.

Yet the assessment to Russia was proposed at exactly 6% (an amount which sounded more like interest than an assessment), and Britain got off with 10.5% (mighty Britain with the world empire which Russia fears every day on its government-owned radio and newspapers). Even wartorn France, occupied and disrupted France, was to pay 5.50% and China 2.75%, leaving the whole rest of the world to pay half as much as the United States or 25%.

Too Much For Vandenberg

This was too much for Senator Vandenberg, who was polite enough about the matter. He even dropped a joke or two about some phases of it, although my information was he was seething inside. He may possibly have been seething at Truman's designation of his Republican colleague, Senator Austin, at the head of the United Nations delegation, who seemed to have let the United Nations Assembly get far out of hand. Indeed I heard certain private hopes expressed in authoritative quarters as earnestly as a deep and sincere prayer, that State Secretary Byrnes was arriving for the Big Four meeting in New York in anticipation of the prospect that he would make some sense out of the affair. Frankly mine was that Vandenberg was already there.

The disturbing nonsense which had been too much for Vandenberg was this: "Everything was being done to appease Russia. The questions being taken up were those which Russia wanted in public discussion. She held back her veto—graciously, said many unknowing persons—to let United Nations Assembly talk about her veto. It had been unanimously decided to talk about Spain, a subject Russia likes she says, because it embodies the very essence of democracy, although no one said anything about talking about democracy in Russia.

If there is a live question about democratic freedom of the individual in poverty ridden little Spain, the same question is certainly present in Russian occupied territories, say Poland for instance, or even in Romania, with whom a treaty is being proposed—an unfinished treaty which actually makes that a live question.

Choice of Russia

In short, this world assembly in which Russia was to pay 6 per cent of the freight and Britain 10 per cent and the United States exactly half, was to discuss everything Russia wanted discussed, but not much that anyone else wanted to discuss. Here was Russia with a veto on discussion, claiming actually only a 6% interest in the world organization, although actually controlling the course of the organization.

This could hardly make sense to anyone—yet it did to a great number of people who gleefully claimed the millennium had arrived. One supposed authority actually hailed the millennium, saying he knew it, because he had seen a picture of some Russian conference delegates going to church.

Senator Vandenberg's counter-proposal was that the United States assessment be cut to 25% as he knew the 50% assessment could never get through our Congress. Incidentally, it could get through no board of directors anywhere either, including that of Russia, if the situation were reversed. But 6% Russia, not content with directing the world in discussion, actually put one delegate up to protest even against the expenditures proposed—whether to cover up her own success, or to pinch her 6% down less.

If I had been a UN delegate through all this nonsense, I would have spent my time in New York seeing some good shows. There are some good ones there now including Ethel Merman's in which she sings hopefully about things that just come naturally. I want to see it to find out if she means from Russia.

Hizzoner Learns Of The Spoils System

After a five-day strike of sanitary department employes, Mayor Delesseps Morrison and other New Orleans officials personally collected the city's garbage.

There's an administration literally making good on its campaign promise to clean up the city.

Of course, there was more to the emergency than met the eye. Five days is a long time without garbage collection, especially in a town which goes in for fish.

Garbage accumulates faster than dividends. And draws, not interest, but flies.

The mayor, who has gained quite a reputation as a diplomat, was the logical man for the job, it being one which had to be handled with gloves on.

Morrison is not the first politician to collect over-ripe produce. It's been done previously but never before voluntarily.

Author of the Week

CURZIO MALAPARTE

ITALIAN-BORN Curzio Malaparte, author of "Kaputt," a highly personal account of wartime Europe, has been aided in getting around the continent and meeting the right people by two jobs: diplomat and journalist. Exciting though his own life has been, the manuscript of this book has had thrilling adventures, too. Friends in Russia and Germany hid some pages for him; two diplomats served as messengers for other chapters; it was concealed in the soles of his shoes, in the lining of his coat, and in a hole in the wall around his home at Capri. It went to jail with him in Rome.

The Boches French soldiers used to exclaim late in World War I, are "kaputt." This word borrowed from their enemy is applied by Malaparte to Europe, where "all that is noble, gentle and pure is dying."

The author, an Italian journalist jailed several times by Mussolini, went as correspondent to Russia, Sweden, Finland, Poland, Romania, Germany; talked freely and sometimes with foolhardy frankness to Sweden's Prince Eugene, Ante Pavelic of Croatia, Poland's Governor General Frank, Himmler, Ciano, descendants of Wilhelm II and Bismarck; shared the nightmare existence of soldiers and civilians, and wrote this amazing book.

The German, he believes, "has no fear of the strong man . . . The German fears the defenseless, the weak and the sick. The leitmotiv of fear, of German cruelty as a result of that fear, had become the principal keynote of my entire war experience."

This theory explains, at least in part, why this war book, inspired by it, differs from any other you have read, from the stirring tales of brave deeds by Resistance fighters as well as from the less spectacular, soberly factual accounts by American writers.

In these pages we have an expressionist picture of the war; like Van Gogh, Malaparte gives us not so much what he saw as what he imagined, not what he could figure out but what he couldn't. This is a kind of Apocalypse, with the Four Horesmen, with graves bursting open to disgorge the rotting dead, with monsters, devils and ghouls. This is not Europe, but the pus that spread over it sourly and malignly.

Corpses hang from trees; the stifled dead leap from packed railway cars to smother the men who pry open the doors; lifeless bodies stinking in gutters are stripped of clothes by men and women driven on by brutish avarice; the heads of hundreds of horses, frozen stiff, stick up from the surface of icy Lake Ladoga like infernal sculpture; a basketful of eyes is a chieftain's reward from his barbarian soldiers.

And it all takes place under skies such as will break thunderously on Judgment Day; Covered with fish scales, or pulsing obscenely like an exposed lung, or dripping warm rain like blood.

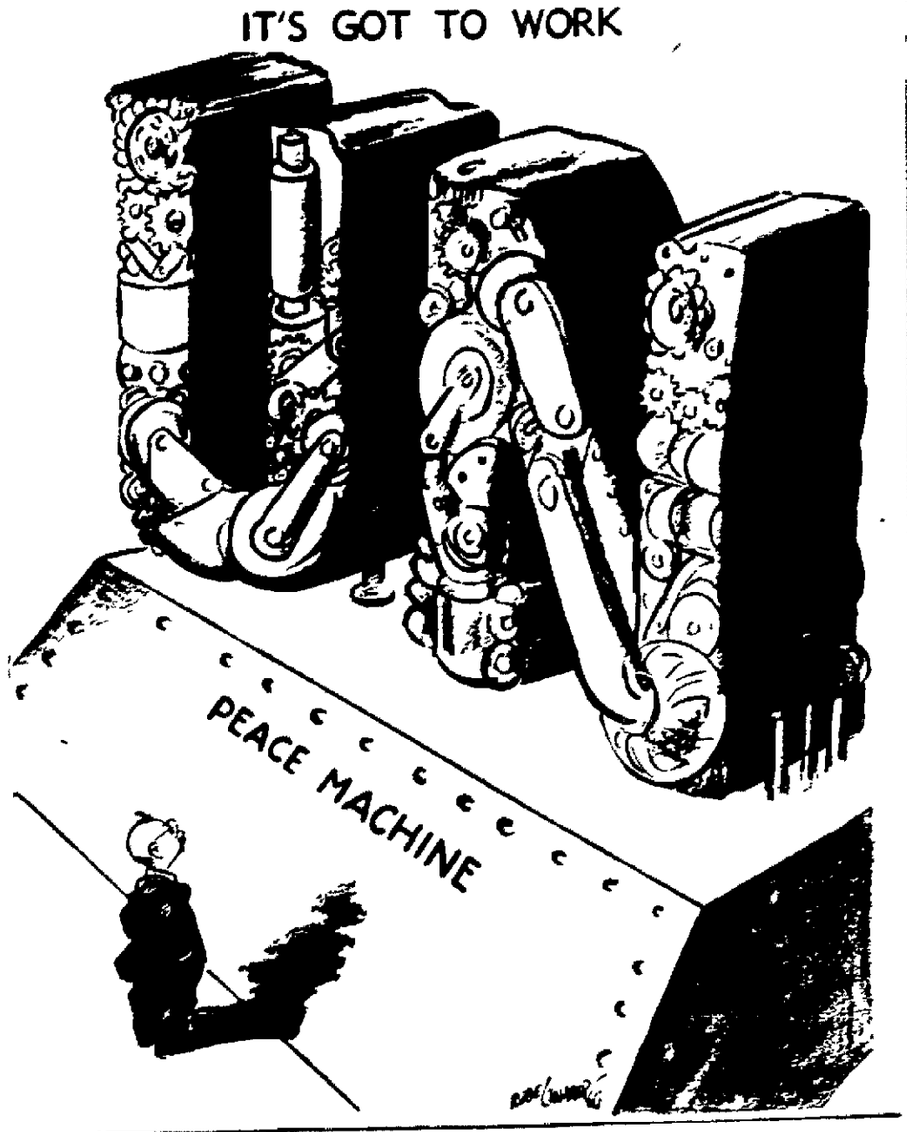
IT'S GOT TO WORK



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 6, 1936.

At least 150 vessels were strike-bound in west coast ports as the Pacific coast's general maritime strike entered its second week. Sympathy walkouts hampered shipping in major ports of the Atlantic and Gulf areas.

More than 1,200 parents and friends of pupils in the first eight grades of the Marion county schools attended the county's first vocal music festival at Epworth M. E. church. Approximately 450 boys and girls took part in the program.

Homer D. Cole was in Columbus attending the twelfth annual session of the State Association of County Treasurers of Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maag celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home on East Center street.

Mrs. Grace Bowser was elected president of Whitney Lodge No. 846, L. A. to the B. of R. T. at a meeting held in the Legion Dugout.

Plans for sponsoring the first concert of the Marion Civic Orchestra's 1936-37 season were made at a meeting of the Woman's Symphony Board at the home of Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Nov. 6, 1926.

The trial of Pat McDermott, charged with being the "trigger man" in the murder of Don Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher, was set for Dec. 6. Police authorities suspended efforts to obtain a confession.

William R. Martin, Marion's first municipal judge, announced that before opening of the new court on Jan. 1 he would visit other Ohio cities where similar courts were in operation for the purpose of acquainting himself with methods of procedure.

A hog cholera epidemic which had been spreading in Marion county and other sections of Ohio for several months was abating, Dr. J. T. Gruber, Marion meat and milk inspector reported.

Capt. John W. Mason of Company D, Capt. Carl Ebert of Howitzer company, Frank O'Dowd and Hubert Taylor, first and second lieutenants of Company D, and William E. Marks, first lieutenant of Howitzer company were in Marietta to attend the annual convention of the Ohio National Guard.

British Appraisal of America

From The London Economist

SOME DAY inflation will cease to be the danger and the American economy will have to face its more permanent enemy, deflation.

There is no evidence of any such far-reaching social revolution in America as would justify abandoning the fundamental assumption that as people increase their incomes they increase their savings, relatively as well as absolutely. Some day the proportion of the total of American incomes that is spent on consumption will fall back to the normal figure and the problem will then have to be faced of finding means whereby the unspent portion can be absorbed without deflation and unemployment — that is, some means whereby savings can be turned into spending on capital formation and the flow of the national income thereby maintained.

No one can say for certain when that time is coming, but it will certainly come. No one can say for certain what will happen when it comes; but nothing that is happening now alters the previous conclusion that it will be a very difficult problem for an uncontrolled economy, with a noncohesive and nonresponsible political system, to solve. On the contrary, unless all the old rules have been revoked, it is still a prudent presumption that the higher the rocket goes the further the stuck will fall.

Moreover, it is not enough for outsiders merely to feel sure that, when the critical time comes, the American government will take effective steps to keep up the flow of the national income. A great deal depends, for us, on how it is done.

For example, it is significant that virtually every plan for achieving this that has been published in America places great reliance on a large export surplus of three billion dollars or even more. Whether financed by loans or not, an export surplus of this order, at a time of oncoming slump, would wreck the export markets of the world.

The easiest way for any nation to get rid of threatened unemployment is to pass it on to its neighbors, and if congress were suddenly faced with the necessity of doing something to head off a slump, could it think of anything politically more attractive or technically easier than to cut imports and subsidize exports?

The apprehension that outsiders must feel about the absence of an agreed anti-slump policy in America (as distinct from a lot of talk about the necessity of full employment) is compounded equally to the fear that, when the time comes, congress will do nothing effective, and partly of the fear that it will be the wrong things.

Meat On The Table

THE New York Times has reported a voluntary buying strike against overpriced meat in New York markets. It remains to be seen to what extent American housewives will be deterred from buying by price dislocations.

In normal times, an average American eats about half a pound of meat a day, but six years of abnormal times have had drastic effects on prewar habits.

Statistics confirm the prevailing impression that consumption of meat fluctuates widely in relation to economic conditions. Thus, in 1934 drouth caused the slaughter of many meat animals for lack of pasture and feed. Prices fell and meat consumption rose 8½ per cent over the previous year. In 1935, when meat came into short supply and prices rose, meat consumption per capita was 20 per cent below that for 1934.

Even in years of prosperity and high meat supply Americans haven't been eating as much meat as their forefathers did. In 1899, estimated consumption of meat was 151 pounds per capita, compared with 141 points in 1940. In 1908, per capita consumption rose to 163 pounds. Relatively more Americans lived on farms then and did harder and longer manuel labor.

As consumption of meat declined more dairy products, except butter, more fruits, leafy green and yellow vegetables were eaten. There was a decrease, however, in potatoes and grain products.

Americans are far from being the world's champion meat eaters. Natives of Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay, Austria and New Zealand consumed from 35 to 45 per cent more meat in the prewar years. The British were about the same, Canadians a little lower, France and Germany were 25 per cent lower, the Soviet Union two-thirds lower.

Will Move River

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG — While South African villagers near Kimberley dig holes in their gardens searching for diamonds, a syndicate is planning to move a river in the same quest for precious stones.

The syndicate, one of many recently formed, has obtained rights to deflect a 2,500-foot stretch of the Vaal river through a canal. Engineers believe the river bed may contain rich diamond deposits.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

So You Never Saw Al Jolson

AL JOLSON'S life story has been put on screen. Al doesn't appear in it, a pro movie actor, Larry Parks, playing him. Al's voice is synchronized into the picture. He does a good job but there was only one Jolson and no imitator could ever touch him, although hundreds tried. Never to have seen Jolson is to have missed one of the most electric personalities the stage ever knew.

He wasn't just a comedian; he was a man with a voice, an electric charger with a human personality, a belt of lightning in blackface. He was a thing of watts and amperage. No one ever took Jolson's pulse; they took his temperature.

You felt Jolson's presence while he was still in the wings and when he swept onto the stage it was like seeing a four-ring circus break out of an egg.

He was a great showman without seeming to be, a super comedian who never had to put the ideas down your throat. Jolson always seemed to us that he played a 30th performance with the vitality and sparkle of a first night.

There is no comedian in the country today who is within a thousand miles of him as a funny man. And this is all the more remarkable when you consider that he scaled the heights when comic needed a lot more than a flip team of gag writers, a special crew of Broadway press agents, daily mention in most of the columns and nightclub background. The comics of his day were not build-ups. They couldn't get by through main dependence on dirt, plenty of free publicity, a bumper crop of stolen jokes and an oversized gall.

Jolson was tops in the sense that Ziegfeld, Jumbo Luna Park, the Follies, Huck Finn, the Ringling Brothers Circus were tops. He outclassed the field as Irving Berlin and Ethel Merman outclass theirs. Trying to do justice to him in a movie is like trying to get a typical fair across on a postcard, or getting a Toscanini recital by radio.

We saw most of Jolson's shows when my home town was the Number one try-out town and his coming proclaimed on the bulletin boards was something to lift the spirit. The kids stayed up to see him. The grown-ups fought for seats. The mob of top galleryites in front of the theater hours before it opened was something to see. All Yale turned out for a Jolson show and to see a Mammy show on the night after a football victory was something.

The runways was a feature of musicals. Jolson's day and the show really began when Al stepped down and got chatty with the audience. Somehow he did it without ever seeming Smart Alecky patronizing or fresh. There never any of the "I hope I'm not too much for you" in his manner.

You hummed the Jolson tunes as you filed out of the theater. You told his stories for days.

What a man! And, come to think of it, he never boasted about the big salary he was getting wrote a book or did a column as a sideline. Maybe it was two other fellows, after all.

ANSWER YES OR NO!

For the first time in history the recorded voice of a dead president is being used in an election campaign!—News item.

The Democrats want the election handed them on a "platter," would you say?

Thirty five hundred dollars was left on a Long Island train a year ago. Four passengers called the attention of a trainman to it, and the trainman turned the money into the lost department. When the loser never reported the railroad kept the money. The trainman brought suits, claiming it should be given to him. Three passengers then put in claims. A court finally divided the money five ways, the trainman getting the largest share. We can't stop wondering about the effect of this on the next person who spots a lost doughbag on a railroad train. But what surprises us is that anybody could leave $3500 on a train and never bother to report it. We make three guesses:

(1) The loser had been reading an article on inflation and, somehow, $3500 didn't seem to make any difference.

(2) The money belonged to the wife, so immediately upon realizing he had lost it, the husband fled to China.

(3) The package had been in the Long Island day-coach for years, nobody in this generation noticing it before.

No Parking

By TRUMAN TWILL

The most courageous thing in a generation started a few days ago in New York City when parking was abolished in a large part of the busy midtown area.

For the first time since New York built subways to take care of traffic, some of them are being permitted to do what they were designed to do. They are being used as streets instead of garages.

New York did not do this radical thing without misgivings and opposition. For one thing it meant hiring thousands of new policemen to keep the motoring public from doing what it had been accustomed to do. Though no-parking signs for most of the streets involved were only a few years ago, they had been winked at until it was as though no one ever had heard of them.

The city's decision, moreover, was not voluntary. It was forced. Either streets built for moving traffic were going to be rid of parkers or traffic in New York would quit moving entirely. It already had been clogged up and slowed down to a crawl.

There are few cities with as acute a problem as New York's, but traffic congestion is now a great American headache, the thing everybody talks about and almost nobody does anything about, except grumble. Where ever the traffic problem exists, it is made worse than it need to be by the great American oversight. What was failure to provide for parked automobiles.

This will be done better some day than it is being done now. Cities will make estimates of their parking needs and take collective action to make sure there will be adequate parking space furnished in a manner that will not interfere with traffic. As new shopping centers are worked out and new neighborhoods developed, parking space will be compulsory.

It will dawn on a country which regards automobiles as a necessity that something must be done with them when they are not in use. Cars perhaps it will redawn, because two generations ago more was being done to take care of horses and buggies than is being done in most places to take care of automobiles.

All streets will be used to keep cars moving. Cars will be stored somewhere else—probably streets wherever the right-of-way is wide enough, but never on the streets themselves.

The automobile is here to stay, and not at the price of a police ticket for parking in the wrong place because no right place was provided. The police will have to get a new racket. And that happens, but they'll survive. By that time they'll be collecting fines from airplane pilots for leaving their contraptions on the air because it never occurred to anyone that 10,000,000 airplanes would have to be left somewhere when nobody was flying them.

Couple Exchange Vows in Closed Church Ceremony

CLOSED church was observed for the wedding of Miss Juanita Underwood and Richard Cox Saturday afternoon in Calvary Evangelical church. Only the immediate families and close friends were present for the ceremony read at 2:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Robert W. Faulkner. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. David A. Underwood and the late Mr. Underwood and Mr. Cox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cox of Caledonia.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Clifford Schaefer of Toledo, the bride was costumed in a gown of white net over taffeta, fashioned with a long train. Her fingertip veil was held with seed pearls and she carried a white Testament showered with streamers and white roses.

Mrs. Robert Burke of Wilmington and Miss Lenora Brownlee, sister of the bride, were the attendants. Mrs. Burke, who was the matron of honor, was costumed in blue net over matching taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses caught with pink ribbon. Miss Brownlee as bridesmaid, was costumed in pink net over matching taffeta and the bodice was of maroon velvet. Her flowers were yellow roses in a colonial bouquet.

Louis Rorick of near Caledonia served as best man for Mr. Cox and ushers were classmates of the bridegroom, Richard Shelton of Caledonia and Robert Haas.

Decorations on the altar were baskets of white and bronze chrysanthemums and palms. The wedding music was played by Mrs. J. W. Baker and Miss Maxine Unland sang. Mrs. Baker played "Intermezzo," Provost and "O Perfect Love," Burleigh, and the wedding marches and the vocal numbers were "I Love You Truly," "Indian Love Call" and "Because," and the traditional wedding marches.

A reception was held at the Underwood home following the ceremony. Mrs. Underwood was costumed in a black dress with white trim and Mrs. Cox wore a black costume with white check trim. Both wore gardenia corsages. On Sunday the parents of the bridegroom entertained with a family dinner in their honor.

The couple are spending their honeymoon in the Smokey mountains. Upon their return they will make their home with the bridegroom's parents.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schaefer, Mrs. Jane Humes and Mrs. Mae Curry of Toledo; Richard Grobe of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cox, Edwin Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flowers and daughter of Caledonia, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rinehart and family of Climax.

COUNTY

for the short term in the U. S. senate, George H. Bender, Republican, carried the county by 4,121 votes over William M. Boyd, Democrat, for congressman-at-large.

Belle Center Republican David A. Liggitt was favored for return to the state senate from the 13th-31st district by 3,856 votes over Democrat David Edward Nolan of Huntsville.

County Race Figures

In the county races Luther J. Mitchell was next high to Robinson with 9,652 votes to defeat Paul H. Naher, Democrat, by 3,583 in the race for county commissioner. The board of commissioners will remain all Republican as a result of Mitchell's election. He will succeed John D. Jones, the present commissioner he defeated for the nomination last May.

Harry V. Mounts, Republican, won return to the county auditor's office with 2,200 majority over George Conroy, Democrat.

On the non-partisan judicial ticket Marion county voters went for the "ins." For the supreme court term starting Jan. 1 Charles B. Zimmerman was favored for reelection over Clinton DeWitt Boyd by 1,575 votes. For the Jan. 2 term of the state high court Charles S. Bell, also up for re-election, had an advantage of 913 over Herbert S. Duffy.

For the Third district court of appeals incumbent Judge George S. Middleton of Bellefontaine was given a majority of 4,607 over Clarence U. Ahl, common pleas judge of Crawford county.

Social Labor Vote Small

For the first time in a number of years Marion county voters divided their attention among three parties on the regular ballot. Except for the Republican and Democratic tickets, however the division was insignificant since the newcomer, the Social-Labor party, polled only 59 votes for governor. Arla A. Albaugh, the S-L candidate for governor, polled 41 votes in the city and 18 in the rural precincts. Peter M. Kapitz, for lieutenant governor, was given 35 in the city and 16 in the county while William Farkas candidate for the U. S. senate, polled 40 in the city and 15 in the county.

Interest Runs High

In turning out in record numbers at the polls yesterday Marion county voters took an off-year election seriously for the first time since the years before the war. Campaign interest reached a higher peak than at any time in the 1940's, and backed by fair weather, drew the large turnout at the polls.

Interest in the outcome also was high as the vote count progressed. A battery of telephone operators was kept constantly busy at The Star office where a vote tabulation was made to provide information for the public.

Democratic and Republican headquarters also were open for receiving returns and a number of candidates kept results in their own quarters.

Despite the large vote the count at the precinct headquarters was conducted with considerable speed, bringing the last report into election board headquarters on East Center street about 2:10 a. m.

CONTROLS

necessary military and naval budgets will be hard to trim.

OPA Drive Expected

It seemed certain that an all-out drive would be made to repeal the OPA law long in advance of its scheduled June 3 death date. Rent control probably will be continued under some old-line government agency.

Veterans will come in for their full share of attention, but 1947 probably will not be the year of a full-fledged bonus drive. For one thing, the most potent veterans organizations will not hold conventions again until late next summer.

For all the Republican gains in congress, Mr. Truman probably will recommend once again the program he inherited in large part from Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That program calls for enactment of a permanent fair employment practice commission, abolition of the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections, construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, and broadened social security legislation, possibly including prepaid medical care.

Couple Wed At Home of Bride In Mansfield

MR. AND MRS. LOREN A. HANSBERGER of Mansfield are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Barbara, to Thomas Y. Biggert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Biggert of 247 Bellefontaine avenue, which took place Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 32 Sherman avenue.

Only the immediate families were present for the double ring ceremony read by Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the Methodist church. To repeat their vows the couple stood before the fireplace in the livingroom, which had been decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and greenery and lighted with tapers held in seven branch candelabra. The wedding march from "Lohengrin," Wagner, was played by Miss Susan Hansberger, sister of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was costumed in a street-length dress of light blue rajah silk and her headdress was a blue ostrich bandeau. Her white prayer book held a white orchid. Mrs. Joseph E. Castner, of Marion was her sister's matron of honor and Robert E. Dombaugh Jr., of Marion served as best man for Mr. Biggert. Mrs. Castner was costumed in a brown dress with matching accessories and wore a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Hansberger chose a dark blue faille costume and the bridegroom's mother was costumed in a beige dress with brown accessories. Both wore corsages of Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception attended by 50 guests. Later when the couple left on a wedding trip through northern New York state the bride donned a grey suit with which she combined black accessories. Upon their return they will make their home in Marion.

The bride was graduated from the Mansfield High school. Mr. Biggert, a graduate of Harding High school served with the Army Air Corps and spent some time in the Pacific theater. He is associated with the Commercial Motor Freight, Inc.

Guests were present from Marion, Akron, Newark and New York City.

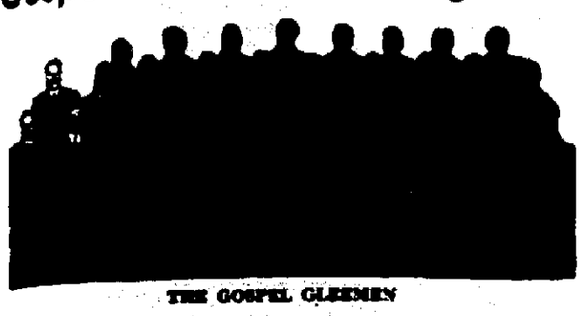
Gospel Gleemen To Sing Here



THE GOSPEL GLEEMEN

The Gospel Gleemen, a ministers' chorus of the Oregon-Washington conference of the Evangelical church, will present a sacred concert Thursday night, Nov. 7, at 7:30 o'clock in Calvary Evangelical church. The program is being sponsored by the Evangelical churches in Marion and the community.

The group is unique because of the scope of their tour and the make-up of their organization. They are sponsored by the Allright Brotherhood of their conference, the laymen sending their ministers on a nation-wide tour singing the gospel. In the absence of the ministers, who will be gone for a month, the Brotherhood is assisting in the work of the local churches.

The Gleeman feature the gospel songs in a live and attractive way. Also there are soloists, duet arrangements, a trombone trio, sacred readings and vital testimonies by the men in the group. The two district superintendents of the conference travel with the organization and make the presentations.

OHIO G.O.P. GET 2 HOUSE SEATS

Retain All Pre-Election Posts Although Ramey Gets Scare.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Republicans ran the already thin Ohio Democratic delegation in congress through the wringer in yesterday's election and added two seats to their own already fat majority for a total of 18.

Although they had a good scare in the Ninth district and almost lost a seat to Michael V. Di Salle, vice-mayor of Toledo, the Republicans came through to hold that district for incumbent Homer A. Ramey.

They also unseated William R. Thom of Canton, replacing him in the 16th with Henderson R. Carson, also of Canton, by 62,265 to 51,620, and ousted Edward J. Gardner, Third district Democrat, by giving Raymond H. Burke 71,124 to 65,740. Both are Hamilton men.

The final count in the Ninth district, made up of Lucas and Ottawa counties, showed Ramey in by 502 votes—59,500 to 58,998. Di Salle was believed to be awaiting the examination of 196 challenged ballots before making up his mind whether to ask a recount. Should they indicate that he might win with a recheck, he may ask for one, observers in Toledo declared.

Of the remaining four Democrats in the Ohio delegation to the 79th congress, Michael Kirwan of Youngstown swamped Norman W. Adams in the steel mill district, No. 19, 88,541 to 59,328. Walter B. Huber, after an up and down fight, finally beat Fred W. Danner in the 14th, which centers around their home town of Akron, 87,487 to 77,321.

Michael Feighan of Cleveland's 20th was outrunning Republican Walter E. Obert, and Robert Crosser of Cleveland's 21st was far ahead of James S. Hudec in slow returns.

Elsewhere the Republicans had it all their way. George Bender of Cleveland overwhelmed William D. Boyd for congress-at-large. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, Republican national campaign committeeman who paid little attention to his own race in his effort to put the party over elsewhere in the country, was quickly counted in over Carl H. Ehl of Springfield, 62,854 to 22,926.

Thomas Jenkins of Ironton, who started in 1925 and now is serving his 11th consecutive term in congress, was an easy winner over H. A. McCown, also of Ironton. Jenkins, dean of the Ohio congressmen, received 35,459 to McCown's 17,451.

The effort of former Rep. Robert T. Secrest to get back in the 15th district in eastern Ohio was thwarted in a fairly close race with P. W. Griffiths, Marietta Republican. Griffiths rolled up a 36,464 vote to Secrest's 32,091.

Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland, Ohio's only congresswoman, who succeeded her late husband, Charles, continued piling up a Republican lead in the 22nd, which includes part of Cuyahoga plus Geauga and Lake counties.

By The Associated Press

Wizard of Oz Surely Never Dreamed of This

By The United Press

SIERRA MADRE, Calif. — It takes a bird of iron nerves to brave a sound-equipped superscarecrow protecting the garden of Henry Ivins Hawxhurst, artist.

After 13 years of experimentation in scarecrow making, Hawxhurst has completed his hydraulic-action scarecrow, complete with alarm-clock attachment, sound effects and a thrifty irrigation feature.

He attaches Oscar, the perfect scarecrow, to a garden hose. Water pressure puts Oscar in motion, actuating a swaying wire carrying bird-frightening objects and cans. An alarm clock turns on the water at the favorite feeding time of the birds. And the water which runs the device goes right back to garden irrigation.

Handicapped by postwar shortages, Hawxhurst used parts from old bed springs, a steamer trunk, tire pumps and a broom handle to make the figure.

"Life With Father" Set For Presentation at 8:15 Tonight

Doors of the Palace theater will open at 7:30 and curtain time is 8:15 for the stage presentation of the Broadway comedy hit, "Life With Father," tonight. There still are a few good seats available, Manager George E. Planck said today, and the box office will be open this afternoon and tonight.

The cast and stage settings arrived today from Warren via their unique mode of travel—bus and trailer-van, and by curtain time everything will be ready for tonight's performance of the show that has "tickled the national funny-bone" since 1939. Patrons are asked to plan their arrival at least a half-hour before curtain time in order that all may be seated by 8:15. Presentation of this top-notch comedy is being made here with a view to reviving interest in stage productions, Manager Planck states.

The Cast.

The cast follows: "Annie," Eleanor de Vito; "Vinnie," Alice Thomson; "Clarence," Tom Hughes Sand; "John," Donald Frank; "Whitney," Richard Frank; "Harlan," David Frank; "Father," Brandon Peters; "Margaret," Roberta Bellinger; "Cousin Cora," Lee Sanders; "Mary Skinner," Frances Helm; "The Rev. Dr. Lloyd," Henry Craig Neslo; "Delia," Helen F. Evans; "Nora," Neville Westman; "Dr. Humphreys," David C. Jones; "Dr. Sommers," George Spelvin and "Maggie," Ruth Starr.

The set for the production is lavish and authentic. The wall paper design is from one of the 1880's and similar attention to fine detail has been given other matters. The furniture is of the period and might well have stood in the original Day residence at 480 Madison avenue, New York City. Many accessories, including the newspapers which "Father" reads, also are of the 1880's and were secured from the props department of Warner Brothers studios which have just completed a movie version of the play.

Nationwide Presentation

When "Life With Father" gave its first performance on Broadway seven years ago, a leading drama critic remarked that "sooner or later everyone will have to see it." This turned out to be a prophetic statement, and is why the comery has played uninterruptedly in New York City and is being taken across the country by nine separate touring companies.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Acne

Acne is the bane of youth. Just the time boys and girls are most sensitive about their appearance—that is, just as they begin to grow up—a perverse fate seems to decree that many of them shall break out in a rash of disfiguring pimples. This condition can be very stubborn, sometimes resisting all efforts to clear it up for a period of several years.

Thus, it is good to be able to report a new treatment, which seems both simple and effective. It is based on the fact that during recent years science has developed a number of liquids, by means of which it is possible to carry certain medications into the skin merely through outside application.

Dr. George M. MacKee and his co-workers of New York have used this new advance to work out a treatment for acne, and they state, in the Journal of Investigative Dermatology, that it gives as good results as X-ray treatments. In the past, X-ray treatments have proved quite successful in curing cases of acne which seemed to respond to nothing else.

One hundred and thirty patients were treated with a preparation made up of sulphur, sodium, alkyl, benzene sulfonate, and other substances. The average time required to cure these patients was 15.4 weeks. None of the patients were made worse or unimproved by the treatment. In two instances the disorder recurred. One patient developed some irritation of the skin due to the use of the preparation.

In applying it, a glass rod is used to put it on the skin, and the mixture is massaged into the skin for from one to two minutes one hour before going to bed at night.

After a week the patients were observed and if no redness or scaling was present, they were instructed to use the remedy in the morning as well as at night.

Before the morning application, the face was well washed with soap an dwater, and the preparation was then allowed to remain on the skin for 15 minutes while the patient was eating breakfast and dressing. The night application also was preceded by washing the face with soap and water, but the preparation was allowed to remain on the skin until morning.

Included in the treatment was the overcoming of constipation, anemia, and other disorders which may have been present. The patients were advised to eat a well-balanced diet.

It would seem that this type of treatment is easily carried out, causes no reactions, and seems to bring improvement in many instances of acne.

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE IS UNDERWAY AT GALION

Kenton War Bride Born In China Of Swiss Parentage

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 6 — Kenton's most recent war bride is the former Miss Helene Scharpf, now Mrs. Ben Howard, born of Swiss parents in China where she lived until coming to the United States in June.

Mrs. Howard, who speaks four languages, English, Chinese, German and French, lived in Shanghai where her father was a foreign agent and custom's broker.

She was working for the International Red Cross in China when she met Ben Howard of Kenton who was with the Army.

Mrs. Howard, when she arrived in the United States last June, perplexed Los Angeles department store clerks when she did not know the size dress or shoes she wore. The reason—all her clothes and wearing apparel in China were hand made and sizes were not mentioned.

Rev. Boaz Preaching At Oakland Revival

Tuesday evening, in the opening of a series of evangelistic services at the Oakland Evangelical church, Rev. Russell Boaz of Youngstown brought a message of challenge on the theme: "Reducing Christ." He pointed out how the church members of our day "expect so little of the exalted Christ who is now waiting to give so much to those who have a proper conception of who He is and what He is willing to do for us." He expressed his purpose to center all his sermons in this two-weeks campaign around "the Christ who is so fully adequate to meet all our needs and solve all our problems now." Rev. Boaz will speak over radio station WMRN at the 8:15 morning devotional period tomorrow.

Mrs. Edith Gallagher of Sebring introduced two new choruses during the period of congregational singing, and presented a vocal solo. She will conduct children's meetings at 4 p. m. Thursday and Friday this week.

The evening services begin at 7:30 o'clock. Oakland church is located on Bellefontaine avenue at Henry street. Rev. H. V. Falor is pastor.

Republicans Dominate Pennsylvania Politics

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 — A Republican vote avalanche—unequalled since the pre-New Deal era—today returned to the G.O.P. to complete dominance of Pennsylvania politics.

Governor Edward Martin was elected to the U. S. senate by a majority of more than 500,000, ending the 12-year tenure of Joseph F. Guffey. Three other Republican statewide candidates swept into office with him, Attorney General James H. Duff taking over the governorship.

The G.O.P. captured 28 congressional seats, a gain of nine in the second largest house delegation. The Democrats retained five.

Substantial Republican gains in both houses of the legislature assured Duff of firm and friendly support for his program from the biggest G.O.P. majority since 1932.

PHOTOGRAPHER FINED

Eugene E. West, 44, of Dayton was fined $25 and costs today in municipal court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of taking photographs professionally without a license. He was arrested on Silver street Monday afternoon while doing house-to-house soliciting, police said.

1,000 EGGS IN EVERY HEN

IF YOU KEEP CHICKENS CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of the hen was too short," said Henry Trafford, nationally famous Poultry Expert, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success."

The average pullet may lay 150 eggs or more—in second year may lay 100. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been definitely established that every pullet hatched has from 1,000 to 2,000 minute cells across her oviduct-end may. In many instances, he made to lay on a highly profitable basis for as long as five years—if given proper care.

How to work to get up towards 1,000 eggs from hens instead of discarding them after one year of laying; how to keep up high production from fewer birds, save on upkeep, cost of breeding, rearing and feeding, and so get more net profit from every dozen eggs. These and many other money-making poultry secrets are in Mr. Trafford's 1,000 EGG HEN PLAN of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent to any reader of this paper who keeps poultry. Hens, this year, will again be in great demand—at good prices—to take the place of hard-to-get meat, means real profit to the poultry keeper who can make his birds produce. Mr. Trafford's plan tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to pay with EXTRA EGGS, cut out this notice and mail name and address to PENN POULTRY SERVICE, Suite 971, 230 North 13th St., Philadelphia (2), Pa., and free copy of the 1,000 EGG PLAN will be sent by return mail.

CABBIES ENTERTAIN COLUMBUS RENS HERE SATURDAY

Well-Known Outfit To Try To Bring City Win Over Marion 11

Teams from the metropolis where the Olentangy flows into the Scioto haven't been able to down a Marion club yet but Saturday night another will be out to do that when the Safety Cab A. C.'s engage the Columbus Rens at the Harding stadium.

This should be a breather for the Cabbies. The Rens an all-Negro outfit have a light squad and although they are reported to possess speed they do not boast an enviable record, and should be easy pickings for the local pros.

2 More Games To Go

The Cabbies will still have two more games to go after this engagement, one at Dayton with the Bombers and their last on Thanksgiving day at the stadium with the 740 A. C.'s, a colored outfit well known in Marion for their stellar playing on the softball diamond.

The Cabbies will be without the services of Bob Higgins who was used as a replacement at halfback. He suffered a broken ankle in the game with the Hilltop A. C.'s and will be on crutches for the remainder of the season. Aside from that there are no injuries on the squad to hold them back.

The team is still working on its offense, Coach Fetter having last week switched his backfield around so that Johnny Williams who had been alternating with Harvey at fullback started at halfback in place of Wrong Way Cafagno.

This set up seemed to produce a little better than any before and Fetter will be drilling it to get results. Although their offense was improved in the Hilltop contest good consistant blocking as yet has not been evident.

Good At Defense

Defensively Marion turned in a fine performance, holding the Hilltopers to a minus four yards on the ground. The Marion pass defense also was fairly good and, although all of the Columbus yardage was made through the air, most of the passes they attempted were unsuccessful. Pass defense will probably be stressed this week.

The Cabbie have compiled a fairly good record this season having won three out of six games on their own home field and tied one while losing both of their out-of-town engagements.

Should the Rens defeat the Cabbies, they would be the first Columbus team to turn that trick against Marion this season and although the game is expected to be a breather, games such as this have caught the favorites gasping for breath when they were over. The kick off is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. and the gates will open at 7:45.

Chapman Leads Trimmed Golf Tourney Field

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 6—Trimmed to 121, including most of the nation's top professionals, the field for the 45th annual north and south open golf tournament went out for the second round today with Dick Chapman, local amateur, holding a two-stroke lead.

Chapman, winner of the U. S. amateur championship in 1940, shot a three under par 69 in yesterday's opening round over the country club's 7,879 yard No. 2 course. He paced such favorites as Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who was one of five tied for second place with 71.

Localite Is Veteran Sports Telegrapher

Forest Coss, manager of the Marion office of Western Union, works in the press box at all the football games at Ohio State sending play by play copy by wire to one of the big papers representing the visiting team. Coss takes dictation from a sports writer covering the contest and sends the news with the old fashioned telegraph key to the writer's paper.

In the recent game between Ohio State and Minnesota, Coss sent copy for the Minneapolis Star-Journal with the play by play and story of the contest consuming 65,000 words, all to be sent by the dot and dash method. Coss estimates he tipped the plug over a quarter of a million times that afternoon, as the Minneapolis scribe gave a detailed account of each play. It took all his time between plays to send the words describing the detailed execution.

Coss who started with the Western Union as a messenger boy and then learned the dot and dash system of telegraphy, has been representing the telegraph company at big sports events in Ohio for many years. He has sent sports copy for some of the best known writers in the business including Grantland Rice, Bill Stern and Arch Ward. Being a dyed in the wool sports fan he enjoys the between play comment of the experts as they analyze the play of the various players and teams. When Ohio State is not playing at home he is sent to the top college game in Ohio instead. Last Saturday he worked at the Ohio U. Ohio Wesleyan game at Delaware.

Several times Coss has been sent to work the telegraph keys at the World Series games. Both times the series were played in Cincinnati he sent out the wire news of the game. His interest in baseball does not stop with the sending of newspaper reports of the games. He is a stockholder of the Marion Cardinals and serves the club as secretary and treasurer. In addition to his interest in all sports Coss is one of the best bowlers in Marion, knocking down the maples for one of the highest averages each season.

OHIO STATE GRIDDERS LEARN NEW TRICKS

Bixler Alters Strategy in Preparation for Pittsburgh.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Ohio State players are learning new assignments for the game with Pitt here Saturday, for Coach Paul Bixler has decided the Panthers' use of four linebackers behind a five-man forward wall requires some revamping of Buck plays.

If Coach Wes Fesler of Pitt employs his customary 5-4-2 defense, Ohio State is likely to look like a different team from that which humbled Northwestern at Chicago last weekend.

Long passes seem like a logical answer to the Pitt defense, but Bixler's scouts tell him such tactics haven't been very successfully employed against the Smoky City team. So, Bix is making some other changes, including even slight modifications in basic Ohio State plays that went well against Northwestern and Minnesota.

At the first Ohio State practice since Saturday's 39-27 victory over Northwestern, the Bucks yesterday were missing only one key player—tackle Chuck Csuri, who injured his ankle in the game at Chicago. Bones Hamilton worked in place of Csuri who expects to be ready to go Saturday.

Bob McGinnis, a second string guard, was hobbling around at the drill and Bixler doubts whether a sprained ankle which kept McGinnis out of the Northwestern game will be mended sufficiently to let him play Saturday.

Converted 16 Times In One Grid Game

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Dr. John K. Kingsbury, Indianapolis physician, shakes his head in an unbelieving sort of way when he sees such football scores as 12 to 6. He placekicked 16 straight points after touchdown in one game in 1905 as Butler University defeated Indiana State Normal, 101 to 0.

In those days a touchdown counted five points. The goal posts stood on the goal line, but most of the extra-point kicks were angle shots. The ball was brought out 20 yards from the place where the goal line was crossed — often near the side line.

"We frequently took the ball out 30 yards," Dr. Kingsbury says, "so we could see a little more space between the posts. As for those 16 straight points, I was just lucky. You don't often get that many chances in one game!"

Fighters from 4 Cities To Box Here Tonight

The fights at the Williams and Lamb athletic club which are to be held tonight are featuring boys from Marion, Mt. Vernon, Mansfield and Delaware.

All nine three rounds bouts will be amateur matches. The Marion fighters have been trained by Bill Scott who has gained a degree of local fame in matches throughout this district.

There will be a Marion boy in every fight except a middleweight scrap in which Art Miller of Mansfield will go against Cliff Graham of Mt. Vernon. The Marion pugulists have boxed out of town this season and a better than 50 per cent average of wins.

The first bout will get under way at 8:15 p. m.

Marion Motorcycle Clubs Stage Race

The Triangle Hecklers and the Triangle Motorcycle club held a closed course run at a joint meeting last Saturday night. The course was 60 miles and the running lasted from 9 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Eddie Snider posted first place but forfeited the trophy to second place winner Bob Maag. Harry Bellville placed third, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Parish finished fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Short ended in fifth place, and Lester Turner was the recipient of the booby prize.

ELVIN BEACH
Plays Where Hitler Ranted

Elvin Beach, Ex-Prexy Great, Continues Football in Germany

Stadiums which once rang with cries of Heil Hitler are once more resounding to the voices of cheering men. Now, though, it's not regimented enthusiasm but, the full-throated cheering for the traditional American game of football played by American GI's at such historic places as Munich, Stuttgart, Paris, and Berlin.

All of these names bring to mind great battles of the last war and for a Marion youth, Elvin Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Beach of 597 Irey avenue, they are once more scenes of conflict but of a much different nature.

According to word received from him by his parents, Al is a member of the 42nd Constabulary Football club which is a member of the Constabulary league set up for the entertainment of troops in the European theater. The team is made up of comparatively young men but most of them have played high school football and many played on some college teams.

There is one player on the team formerly from Penn State along with a former professional player who beat him out for center.

Al, however, will play any position on a football team although he prefers center. He is remembered by Marion fans for his excellence in all sports in which he participated, particularly football, basketball, and baseball. In 1943 as a junior he played center for the Harding Prexies, his splendid defensive work gaining him a berth on the first string All-Ohio squad.

In 1944 when he was captain of the Prexies he was moved to fullback to fill the need of the team and although this was not the position at which he was the most outstanding, he gained honorable mention on All-Ohio squads for that year.

Had he not, for the good of the squad, switched to fullback he undoubtedly would have gained a first string berth on the All-Ohio mythical squad two years in a row. At present he is alternating between guard and center on the service team.

Al tips the scales at 187 pounds and on the gridiron as well as in any other athletic event is able to hold his own against all comers. While in the States, he entered the boxing matches held at Fort McClellan as a light-heavyweight, emerging as the camp champion in that division.

He carried his football experience into the ring with him for in the final match he fought a slugger from Findlay and remembering that it was Findlay who handed the 1943 Prexie squad their only defeat, he took it out on the Findlay pugilist.

In describing the organization of the teams in Europe he says that some of the equipment is very good but all of the teams' uniforms are in general the same color.

As of Oct. 12 the 42nd Constabulary's had won two out of their four games. They opened the season with a 13 to 0 win over the 98th Hospital and then dropped one 12 to 0 to the III Brigade at Stuttgart. Al was named captain for that game.

Then once more playing on their home field in the Stadt Stadium in Munich, they dropped one 7 to 0 to the U. S. A. F. E. (United States Air Forces in Europe). In describing this contest he says that his team had a scoring opportunity in the first half but that time ran out on them and the Air Forces scored in the third quarter on a 30 yard pass. According to latest word received by his parents they beat Special Troops 6 to 0, thus throwing all four teams in the league into a tie for first place.

Oct. 19 they had a game scheduled with the 11th Regiment at Weiden and the following weekend were to fly to Austria for a game in Vienna or Linz. After that they will go to Breman and games are also scheduled with teams out of Paris and Berlin.

Beach arrived overseas Christmas day of least year and expects to be discharged in December of this year. Although he likes the duty he has been performing in the Army he is anxious to get out and into some college.

Prior to entering service he attended Tennessee where he played for two weeks as first string center. As yet he is undecided as to which school he will attend when he returns to civilian life.

BIGGEST BOXING GATE AT CLEVELAND SEEN

Robinson-Levine Bout Scheduled To Attract Fans.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6—The chance that Artie Levine, hard-hitting Brooklyn middleweight, might knock out swift Ray (Sugar) Robinson indicated their 10-round bout would draw the biggest gate in the history of fight shows at the Cleveland arena.

But the betting favored Robinson four or five to one even though he'll give away 16 pounds to the adversary he hopes will be a stepping stone to a double championship.

Robinson, recognized by about all but the National Boxing association and the New York State Athletic commission as welterweight champion, is shooting in tonight's fight for a crack at a middleweight title scrap, his manager, George Gainford, said. Thus he is setting his sights for the first double championship since the days of hammering Henry Armstrong.

Winning 72 of his 74 professional fights, Robinson has encountered trouble only with the middleweights, Jake La Motta having defeated him in one of five meetings and Jose Basora earning a draw with the welter.

"The show should do at least $90,000," said promoter Bob Brickman, "and that makes it a cinch that Robinson and Levine will knock off the fattest purses ever to go to a pair of fighters on an indoor card here." Each has been guaranteed $12,500, Brickman added, with privileges of percentage clauses indicating each will get between $18,000 and $20,000.

HARRIS TO REVIVE ONCE-MIGHTY YANKS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—The job of reviving the sagging baseball fortunes of the once-mighty New York Yankees has been saddled on the shoulders of Stanley (Bucky) Harris, a reported $35,000-a-year ex-boy wonder who has returned to the playing field from the executive ranks.

A minor shakeup certainly is imminent, for Harris admitted yesterday when his new job was formally announced by President Larry MacPhail that he was interested in a first baseman, a catcher, some pitchers and another outfielder.

How far reaching the player turnover may be depends on the number of deals that can be arranged by MacPhail, but both the new manager and the club president emphasized that Joe DiMaggio is to remain with the Yanks.

Ted Williams is not under consideration according to MacPhail who confirmed a World Series meeting with owner Tom Yawkey of the Boston club. Larry said no players were discussed.

Claridon will be the defending champion in the county, having last year won the league by virtue of 11 wins and no losses going on to sweep the tournament by taking LaRue and Waldo in the first and second rounds again defeating LaRue in the semi-final and winning over Pleasant in the finals. New Bloomington which placed second in the league won the consolation match over Kirkpatrick.

Mike Shuman has resigned as a referee and Marion Hinklin of Marion has been named to take his place. OWU Coach Praises All-America System

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O. — The All-American grid team to be selected at the end of the 1946 season by the American Football Coaches association for the second year, is the "most poolproof, truly representative plan ever to be developed," Coach George E. Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan university commented in announcing that he is one of the coaches selected to help pick the team at the close of the current football season. "With a membership of 475, including practically every college coach in the country, and a system of weekly balloting throughout the season, the Association is able to select a team which will be as nearly official as such a team can be because it is picked by men fully qualified to judge," Coach Gauthier stated.

He pointed out that outstanding players on small colleges have an equal chance with the stars on the major college elevens. "Every player in the country is seen by a number of coaches during the season. No great player can be overlooked," he asserted.

Noting that final selections for the Coaches' All-American are not submitted until virtually the close of the season, Coach Gauthier declared that "This is particularly important in obtaining a true picture, since many a star is made or broken in those season-end battles between traditional rivals."

"The final selections as announced in the Saturday Evening Post in December will represent the consensus of a nationwide group of qualified experts," he said. "We coaches feel that here, at least, is a real All-American team which can best honor the country's football great."

"Here at Ohio Wesleyan this year we know we have several gridders," Gauthier said, "Who should gain All-Ohio recognition, including Jim Diamond, center, Bruce Heisler, tackle, and Bob Brentlinger, halfback. With coaches picking the All-Ohio teams just like the All-American, the pick of the gridders are bound to be selected," he said.

ON A LONG DETOUR

By The United Press

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. — J. Keedy, 18-year-old British naval seaman, was examined by immigration authorities on his arrival here. There were some things wrong. He intended to go aboard his naval tug in Hong Kong but went on the S. S. Kitsilano Park instead. The Kitsilano Park headed straight for this west coast Canadian port. Keedy had been on a party with some seafaring men and drank too much.

Tops On Political Firing Line, Bricker Has Duck Gun Superior

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—John W. Bricker's marksmanship on the political firing range was attested to today, but he admitted he had a superior with a duck gun.

Shortly before Ohio's new U. S. senator-elect went to bed about 5 a. m., he disclosed he had suffered a defeat of another kind on election day.

Bricker spent yesterday on a duck-shooting expedition with his 15-year-old son Jack at Lake Erie. The score in ducks was father 3, son, 7.

"I was trying out some new shells that had been recommended to me," the Republican victor alibied; "and the first blast I fired almost tore away my shoulder."

Bricker, tall and athletic, likes sports just about as much as Jack does, and spends as much of his spare time as possible on outdoors expeditions of all kinds with the youngster. These have included big game hunts in the west, fly-fishing or just playing baseball.

During the six-year residence of Governor and Mrs. Bricker and their son in the Executive Mansion, a common sight on the lawn was the state's Chief Executive and Jack tossing a ball. Bricker played baseball at Ohio State university, from which he graduated in 1916.

Although his election was assured before he retired this morning, Bricker postponed the issuance of a formal statement. Some friends thought this might have been out of deference to his Democratic rival, Senator James W. Huffman, who had not yet issued a statement conceding the election. The two have been friends for many years.

Election to the senate undoubtedly means an extremely busy time for Bricker because the ambitions of the 53-year-old Republican leader extend beyond the upper house of congress, his friends say.

He was the Republican nominee for Vice President in 1944, and now is rated one of the top possibilities for the Presidential candidacy.

The senator-elect was born near Mount Sterling, O., on Sept. 6, 1893, and taught in high school there before attending Ohio State.

Before going into the practice of law he served in World War I as a chaplain. His law practice led him to the office of city attorney of Grandview Heights, a Columbus suburb.

From there he progressed to assistant attorney general, member of the state utilities commission, and attorney general for two terms. He was elected governor in 1938.

Ex-War Ace Herbert Flies To Columbus After Triumph

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6 — Republican Governor-Elect Thomas J. Herbert, bemedaled World War I pilot, flew here from Cleveland as his victory margin increased in today's ballot count and pledged himself to "work for better government."

The 52-year-old Herbert withheld a formal statement on his election until his Democratic opponent, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, first broke his silence.

At the governor's mansion, Lausche was reported sleeping after a night vigil during which he saw his Cuyahoga county plurality put him ahead of Herbert for a time. Herbert's downstate support soon overcame Lausche's brief lead and the Republican standard bearer never was headed thereafter.

Both Herbert and Lausche are native Clevelanders and voted at the same time and place in yesterday's election.

Herbert's friends describe him as a man of boundless energy, a stickler for details, a devoted family man and possessed of a consuming interest in things political or governmental.

Herbert demonstrated during his strenuous campaign that he never "runs down" physically. He set a pace in stumping all 88 counties that his companions found difficult to follow.

He announced his candidacy in mid-October of 1945 from University hospital where he had undergone a leg operation necessitated by a wound suffered in World War I as a combat flier.

Herbert sought the gubernatorial nomination in 1944 but ran second in the primary in a field of four candidates.

He started his public career in 1920 when he became Cleveland law director. In 1922 he became assistant Cuyahoga county prosecutor and served until 1923. He was elected attorney general in 1938 and served three consecutive two-year terms.

Although Herbert seldom talks about his war record, he was credited with shooting down two enemy planes. Wounded in combat over France Aug. 16, 1918, he spent five months in a British hospital and two more years in a hospital in this country.

Herbert limps slightly from his leg wound but that hasn't stopped him from engaging in numerous sports, including badminton in which he excells.

He is holder of the British Distinguished Flying Cross, the U. S. Distinguished Service Cross and the Purple Heart.

Herbert maintained his interest in flying after the war, organizing the 112th Observation Squadron in the Ohio National Guard.

He has three children—a daughter, Mrs. Metta Jane Stevers, 23, of Cleveland, and two sons, Daniel, 21, and John, 15. His wife died recently.

SEN. LIGGITT WINS BY LARGE MAJORITY

D. A. Liggitt of Belle Center, Republican incumbent state senator from the 13th-31st district easily retained his seat in Tuesday's election, almost doubling the vote of his opponent, David Edward Nolan, Democrat of Huntsville.

The count for the seven counties in the district was Liggitt, 47,964; Nolan, 24,910.

In both candidates' home county, Logan, Liggitt led Nolan 6,483 to 2,583.

Totals in the other counties are as follows: Marion, Liggitt 9,654, Nolan 5,798; Union, Liggitt 4,632, Nolan 1707; Hardin, Liggitt 6,210, Nolan 3,533; Crawford, Liggitt, 7,163, Nolan 4,501; Wyandot, Liggitt, 3,988, Nolan 2,477; Seneca, Liggitt 9,834, Nolan 4,311.

CONGRESS

taining all of the places they had held.

The state gave Gov. Edward Martin, Republican, a margin over Senator Joseph Guffey, a New Deal wheelhorse, of more than 600,000 for the senate seat the Democrats had held since 1935.

In the 79th congress there were 192 Republicans, 241 Democrats, one American-Labor and one Progressive in the house. The incomplete vote for the 80th congress showed 189 Republicans, 159 Democrats, and one American-Labor. The 79th congress Progressive was reelected as a Republican.

Toll Downfall

As the counting went into the second day, tally clerks already had tolled the downfall of such Democratic veterans as Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, Tunnell of Delaware and Walsh of Massachusetts, and Reps. May and O'Neal of Kentucky and Sheridan of Pennsylvania.

Guffey and Tunnell had been stalwart New Dealers. Walsh is chairman of the senate naval committee. May, whose name has figured in a still pending war contracts investigation, is chairman of the house military committee.

Sheridan headed a military committee inspection trip to the Far East several months ago. O'Neal ranked high on the appropriations committee.

With the counting still in progress Republicans had elected 18 senators and Democrats nine. There are 32 holdover Democrats and 28 Republicans. Necessary for senate control are 49 seats.

Reelected to the house with but little difficulty was Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, speaker-designate if the Republicans take control. Also returned were Sam Rayburn of Texas, new Democratic speaker, and John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, present Democratic floor leader.

Reelected to Senate

Reelected to the senate were Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi, Tom Connally of Texas and Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrats, and Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan, William Langer of North Dakota, Republicans, among others.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts upset Walsh to return to the senate after resigning to enter the Army. Other newcomers to that chamber include Irving Ives of New York, who topped former Gov. Herbert Lehman, and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, who bested John Young Brown. All are Republicans.

In their drive for dominance on Capitol Hill, Republicans chalked up notable gains in New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

In Missouri's Fifth congressional district they added insult to injury when their nominee, Albert L. Reeves, beat Enos A. Axtell, President Truman's favorite.

Knowland Apparently Edging Will Rogers Jr.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6 — Mounting California election returns were shaping a major Republican political victory today for Senator William F. Knowland and the entire Republican state ticket, while two previously Democratic house seats had already fallen and at least four others were imperiled.

With two thirds of California's 15,296 precincts reported, the 38-year-old Oakland newspaper publisher had a steadily growing lead over Will Rogers Jr., who teamed with James Roosevelt to establish a new Democratic political dynasty in California with CIO-PAC blessing.

UN Trieste Tilt Shapes Rapidly

U. S., Russia Head for Showdown Fight Over Control of Port.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—A showdown fight between the United States and Russia over control of the key Adriatic port of Trieste appeared to be developing rapidly today with Yugoslavia and Italy both called to testify before the big-four foreign ministers council here.

Yugoslavia, with Russian backing, is driving for domination of the port while the United States, with Britain and other western powers, insisis on a strong United Nations government.

One phase of the row grew so sharp last night that Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia accused Secretary of State Byrnes of trying to deliver an "ultimatum" to the council to force it to take an action considered unfavorable to Yugoslavia. Byrnes struck back with pointed digs about Molotov's constant insistence on his own views.

Following this brief flare-up, however, the two men joined in refreshments after agreeing with Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France to continue today's session until both Yugoslavia and Italy had been heard.

In one case after another Molotov showed up on the minority side of stalemated issues in the projected Italian peace treaty—background of the Trieste fight—but the Big Four must be unanimous before any agreement can be voted.

In the United Nations, however, where majority votes can force a conclusion, the steering committee of the assembly last night rejected a Soviet proposal to consider the possibility of moving the United Nations headquarters to Europe permanently instead of keeping it in America.

The committee approved an American proposition that New York City and San Francisco should be included among possible sites along with Westchester county.

In the face of these actions, Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko told the committee that despite its vote Europe would be discussed in later full sessions of the UN assembly.

AKRON ATTORNEY IS ROTARY SPEAKER

"Ladies Night" Party Hears Talk by Chester Wise.

Chester Wise of Akron, past president of the Ohio State Bar association, was the after dinner speaker at a ladies night party given by the Marion Rotary club Tuesday night in the Hotel Harding ballroom.

"A Few Basic Things" was the topic chosen by Mr. Wise. He interspersed his talk with humorous stories and anecdotes and emphasized the need for faith in the future. Faith and courage are the greatest assets today, he said, urging his audience to proceed with confidence that we can work out our problems in the democratic way of life.

He declared that a decade from now this will be known as the "age of confusion."

In answer to the big question, "What can we do to perpetuate this republic?" he said we must educate people, and learn to cooperate, because the problems of the future are social problems, which deal with the individual.

He suggested that our motto be, "Submerge self for the common good."

Music was furnished by John Kessler and Mrs. Alan Kessler during the dinner hour. Henry A. Mickley, president of Rotary welcomed the guests.

The committee in charge was composed of Wilson Tway, John Bartram, Howard Guthery, and Edgar Barnhart.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gabler from the Lions club, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Compton from the Y's Men's club, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Pickerel from the Kiwanis club, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Rayl B. Conyers, Miss Effie Oliphant, Mrs. Miriam C. Cheney, and Miss Lucille Foreman.

Carolyn Self was the student reporter this week from the journalism class at Harding High school.

KENTON, Nov. 6—Tax levies and bond issues generally received the approval of voters in villages and townships in Hardin county in yesterday's election. However, they turned thumbs down on a bond issue on the question of the sale of beer to holders of "C" and "D" permits in Washington township.

Ohio Swept By Republicans

land), with 1330 of the county's 1494 polling places giving him a county plurality of 53,682.

Not Sufficient

The home county edge, however, was not sufficient to overcome the surge of Republican votes from most of the remaining 87 counties, and the Cuyahoga margin was far short of the 192,156 favorable balance which Lausche received there in 1944.

Congressman-at-large Bender's plurality over Democrat Boyd mounted to 363,944 votes in the tabulation of 7,837 polling places, and the advantage was rapidly expanding.

The outpouring or Republican votes also assured Ohio of another Taft in the senate, at least for 19 days.

Kingsley A. Taft of Shaker Heights defeated Democrat Henry F. Webber of Lorain for the unexpired senate term running from Dec. 15 to Jan. 3. In the senate he will join Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who is no relation.

The count of 8,186 polling places gave: Kingsley Taft 1,040,853, Webber 797,114.

The Republicans, retaining their 7 incumbents in congress, knocked off two Decomratic congressmen to increase their representation to 19.

Raymond H. Burke of Hamilton defeated Rep. Edward J. Gardner of Hamilton in the Third district, and Henderson H. Carson of Canton unseated Rep. William R. Thom of Canton in the 16th.

While returns from the state legislature contests came in slowly, they indicated that Republicans tightened their control on the house, to which 139 members were elected, and on the senate, to which 36 were elected.

Still to be heard from, with final results not likely today, were 80 local option contests, 607 school levies and 183 school bond proposals.

Senator- elect Bricker in an early morning statement said: "I am very pleased and deeply appreciative of the expression of confidence from the voters."

Huffman was unavailable for comment.

Herbert, World War I ace, flew in a private plane to Columbus from Cleveland shortly after midnight to be with friends.

"I want to take this occasion to express my personal thanks to the countless citizens of our state who have supported me in this campaign," he said on arrival.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer shortly before midnight said Herbert would be elected governor by more than 100,000 votes and Bricker would become senator by 350,000.

Good weather brought voters to the polls early. Although balloting was unusually heavy in many sections, the secretary of state's office clung to its prediction of a total vote of 2,215,000 out of a potential 3,500,000. The record vote for a non-Presidential year was 2,412,871 in 1938.

Returns May Be Delayed

Complete tabulations may be held up as a result of the Erie county election board's refusal to include figures from two precincts in the county's 60-precinct tabulation. The board declared summary sheets in the two precincts "unsatisfactory" and scheduled a hearing for officials today.

State Treasurer Don H. Ebright outdistanced other G.O.P. candidates for state offices in piling up votes for a fifth term and Paul M. Herbert, who has been lieutenant governor three times, outbid Lieut. Gov. George D. Nye, Waverly Democrat seeking reelection. James T. Welsh, Steubenville Democrat, challenged Ebright.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, Cincinnati Republican, won a third term over Charles F. Sweeney, Lakewood Democrat and former member of the state liquor board.

Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins' opposition for reelection was Timothy S. Hogan, Cincinnati Democrat, son of a former attorney general of the same name.

Split On Supreme Court

Republicans split with Democrats in contests for two Ohio supreme court seats on the basis of partial returns. Charles B. Zimmerman, Democrat incumbent, raced ahead of Republican Clinton D. Boyd of Middletown, his unsuccessful opponent six years ago.

Republican Charles S. Bell, incumbent of Cincinnati, stayed in front of former Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy, Columbus Democrat.

The contest for short-term senator gave Ohio a second Taft in the senate.

The 19-day term resulted from the appointment a year ago of Sen. Harold H. Burton of Cleveland to the U. S. supreme court. Governor Lausche appointed Huffman to the senatorial vacancy and Huffman's term expires Dec. 15.

Winner in the race for the short term ending Jan. 3 was Kingsley A. Taft of Shaker Heights, no relation to Ohio's Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati. Kingsley Taft's opponent was Henry F. Webber, Lorain Democrat.

RUSSIAN CRITICIZES "ATOM BLACKMAIL"

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 6—Marshal A. A. Zhdanov, chairman of the supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R., declared in Moscow today that "the blood of our people was not shed for imperialist expansionists and pretenders to world domination—for atom blackmailers."

Zhdanov spoke before a meeting of the Moscow Soviet on the eve of the 29th anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution. His words were broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Prime Minister Stalin had been expected to speak. Soviet sources in London said they were uncertain whether Stalin would deliver his customary anniversary-eve address later.

The celebration meeting sent greetings to Stalin, whose apparent absence was not immediately explained. Zhdanov, sometimes mentioned as a successor to the prime minister, quoted Stalin repeatedly and the audience applauded each reference to him.

Zhdanov declared that opposition had developed—"in particular from Britain and the U. S. A." —to the Soviet program for a "democratic peace."

"The peoples of the world, the common people who defended liberty and independence with their blood against the German fascists, are thirsting for peace," he said amid applause.

SCARCITY REPORTED IN VENETIAN GLASS

By The Associated Press

VENICE—Venice's famed glass industry, a war casualty, is not dead. But it is badly crippled.

Cergio Bacci, proprietor of one of the biggest factories, the Arte Vetraria Murano (AVEM), says only 10 of the 52 on Murano Island are producing. They employ some 250 persons. Before the war, 10 times that many were at work.

The reasons for the curtailment, he says, are the lack of coal and wood for the furnaces, sand and silica to make the glass and tourists to buy the finished product.

"We used to get the coal and the silica from Germany, the sand from Fontainebleau in France, and the wood from Yugoslavia," he explains. "Now we get none of them."

You can expect, therefore, Bacci adds, that Venetian glass, with the intricate designs in gold and glass dating back six centuries, will be scarce and expensive for the next few years. Even so, he does not expect that Venice will lose her markets.

"Good Venetian glass," he contends, "can be imitated. France and England and Germany and the United States all make good clear glass. But they haven't the workmanship in design that Murano has. And even if they did their labor costs would make the price too high."

The artists who put together mosaics out of minute pieces of colored glass, using as many as 5,000 for one postcard-size picture, work five to six days to complete one, but it sells for only $8.88.

"Some of it is not as good as it used to be," Bacci says frankly. But he adds with pride, "It is still the best in the world."

Spring-Like Weather Fools Rose Bush Here

The recent unusually warm weather has apparently pursuaded Marion plant life, in some quarters, that spring is here. Mrs. Catherine Mears reported today that an old fashioned rose bush at her home at 751 North Main street is in bloom. The bush is more than 20 years old. Mrs. Mears said it is not a monthly rose and she has never before seen it bloom so late in the year.

Cities Set To Tackle Their Labor Problems

By The United Press

CHICAGO — The Public Administration Clearing House reports municipal labor relations bureaus are being established in New York City and St. Louis, Mo., following creation of similar units in Toledo, O., and Louisville, Ky.

In New York, the division has been put on permanent status with a $60,000 budget and three members. It will assist in handling relations between the city and its 150,000 employes as well as act in disputes in key industries affecting public health and welfare.

In St. Louis, an 18-member industrial relations committee has been designated.

Louisville formed an 11-member labor mediating board a few months ago. Toledo has two members on its board.

DDT Helps Italians To Wipe Out Malaria

By The United Press

ROME — Using UNRRA-supplied DDT insecticide, the Italian government has waged a winning campaign against malaria in the war-damaged coastal areas south of Rome.

Mosquitos, flies and other disease-bearing insects virtually have been eliminated in areas flooded by the retreating Germans barely two years after Italy began draining the land.

The campaign in this area was an experiment. Its success has caused Italian officials to organize anti-malaria controls all over the nation and to predict that malaria will be wiped out from the country within five years.

By 1860 the American agricultural fair was an established institution, known in almost every farming county.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

FROM the moment of Dr. Twitchell's command, it seemed to me, that the elderly physician and Katharine worked as if they were two hands attached to the same body. So swift and so deft were their movements that I could not follow them, but the result of them appeared in an incredibly short time when, the hypodermic having been thrust into Lee Chow's thin arm, his breathing gradually grew more normal, the agonized look left his eyes, and, at a signal from the physician, Hugh and Jack lowered him gently to his pillows.

"Thank you," the Oriental high caste gentleman said faintly, but Dr. Twitchell held up a peremptory hand.

"We'll take that for granted," he said. "No more talking, if you please, for now. Just rest. I'll examine you in a minute or two."

He looked at Hugh and at Jack, then spoke directly to Hugh.

"You know about these symptoms?" he asked.

"Yes," Hugh answered briefly.

"Then, may I speak to you outside?" he said. "I wish absolute quiet for the patient for a few minutes."

He sent a command to Katharine over his shoulder as he turned with Hugh to the door.

"Watch his breathing and his pulse, please," he said. "Call me if necessary."

Leaves Swiftly

He did not wait for an answer, but went swiftly with Hugh to the door, rolling down his sleeves, and picking up his coat as he went. Not a word was spoken in the room until the two men returned three minutes later. Dr. Twitchell glanced around the room with narrowing eyebrows.

"Too many people in here," he said. "How many have to stay here beside the patient?"

"The other two men," my father said promptly, and you probably need Mrs. Bickett."

"Of course," Dr. Twitchell said.

"But my daughter and I and the two boys are not needed here just now," my father went on, and I was conscious of a quick flash of protest in Hugh Grantland's eyes. But he said nothing, and Dr. Twitchell spoke with decision.

"Then I wish you four would wait somewhere outside for five minutes—probably less. Then we will know our program."

Obeys Commands Promptly

My father, so insistent upon prompt obedience to his own commands, knows how to do the bidding of another when necessary, with prompt cheerfulness.

"We will go at once," he said, putting his hand beneath my elbow, and motioning the two boys to precede us. "We will be just outside the door until you are ready to come out."

Thank you," the physician said perfunctorily, already turning toward the bedside, and my father ushered me swiftly out of the room, closing the door softly behind him.

"Sit down," he bade me, gesturing to the iron benches just outside the door at the foot of the stairway. I obeyed him, and he sat down beside me, motioning the two boys to occupy the adjoining bench.

"Good man, Twitchell," he said when we had seated ourselves. "Knows his business, and doesn't waste any words or motions getting at it. If anybody can help Lee Chow, he can, but—I don't know—I don't know."

He shook his head dubiously, and I knew that he feared greatly for the life of the man who was so close a companion of Hugh Grantland's."

"Tell me," he said after a second's silence. "Was he this ill when he came to the farmhouse?"

"No, indeed," I said. "He was in bad shape, it is true, but he had been exposed to some hardship—he and Hugh were both dripping wet, as I told you, when he was not nearly so ill as he is they came to the door. However, now."

"Dripping wet!" he repeated musingly as he had the first time I had told him of that part of Hugh's arrival with Lee Chow. "I wonder—I wonder."
